in 1906 by Govindasami Pillai as the objection has been taken very late. The Comptroller's objection against the grant of maximum Salaries is correct and there is no reason to give it. His objection should therefore stand. The Inspector General is not correct in thinking that the power to give the maximum pay in a progressive appointment rests in him. No Head of a Deptt has got any discretionary power vested in him where the Rules of the M.S.R are concerned unless the delegation is expressly mentioned. The fact that no objection was hitherto raised is not material".

cases. I would therefore acquiesce in the special treatment proposed.

3) On the general question, I agree with H Asst Secretary's note of 20-5-11 on page 3 of these notes. Similar views were expressed in a recent letter from the Comptroller submitting a pension case of his office which may be put up in discussing the general question.

4) To place matters beyond doubt the following addition may be made at the end of art: 87. M.S.R.

"Such increments in advance can be allowed only on the special orders of Govt in each case."

Amendment of article 87 Mysore Service Regulations.

Opinion of the Council.

The amendment of article 87 Mysore Service Regulations by the addition of the sentence, "such increments in advance can be allowed only under the special orders of Government in each case," may be approved.

Sd/- T. Ananda Row,
Dewan of Mysore.

"Extract

C Balasundaramayya
Offg. Secretary to Govt.

Submitted to His Highness.

Article 87 of Mysore Service Regulations lays down the general principles against the grant o increments of progressive pay in advance of the due date. In a recent case, the Inspector General of Prisons observed that the power of granting maximum salaries was understood to be vested in him. No Hea of a Department has been invested with power to sanc tion increments in advance. The Financial Secretary has therefore suggested that to place matters beyond doubt, the following addition may be made at the end of article 87 of Mysore Service Regulations:-

> "Such increments in advance can be allowed "only under the special orders of Government in "each case".

2. The proposed addition is agreed to by both the Councillors and it may be approved.
